DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Restriction is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 and 372.

This application contains the following inventions or group of inventions, which are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

In accordance with 37 CFR 1.499, applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single invention to which the claims must be restricted.

- I. Claims 1-7, 15, and 18-21 are drawn to a preventative or remedy comprising a compound having acetylcholine esterase inhibitory activity.
 - II. Claims 8-11 and 16 are drawn to a method for screening a preventative or remedy substance for urinary disturbance, for preventing or treating urinary disturbance, for preventing or treating dry mouth, and for preventing or treating overactive bladder.
 - III. Claims 12-14 and 17 are drawn to a method of manufacturing a compound having acetylcholine esterase inhibitory activity.
2. The inventions listed as Groups I-III do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, they lack the same or corresponding special technical features.

An international application should relate to only one invention or, if there is more than one invention, the inclusion of those inventions in one international application is only permitted if all inventions are so linked as to form a single general inventive concept (PCT Rule 13.1).

With respect to a group of inventions claimed in an international application, unity of invention exists only when there is a technical relationship among the claimed inventions involving one or more of the same or corresponding special technical features.

The expression “special technical features” is defined in PCT Rule 13.2 as meaning those technical features that define a contribution which each of the inventions, considered as a whole, makes over the prior art. The determination is made on the contents of the claims as interpreted in light of the description and drawings (if any). Whether or not any particular technical feature makes a “contribution” over the prior art, and therefore constitutes a “special technical feature,” should be considered with respect to novelty and inventive step.

The common technical feature in all groups is a compound having acetylcholine esterase inhibitory activity. The element cannot be a special technical feature under PCT Rule 13.2 because the element is shown in the prior art.

In this case, the JP document by Ishihara et al. (JP-2000-169373) discloses a compound having acetylcholine esterase inhibitory activity, which are the same compounds having acetylcholine esterase inhibitory activity in the instant application.

3. This application contains claims directed to more than one species of the generic invention. These species are deemed to lack unity of invention because they are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

The species are as follows:

(1) a compound having acetylcholine esterase inhibitory activity; and

Art Unit: 1617

(2) an anticholinergic agent.

If Group I, II, or III is elected, applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single species of (1) a compound having acetylcholine esterase inhibitory activity and (2) an anticholinergic agent to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. The reply must also identify the claims readable on the elected species, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered non-responsive unless accompanied by an election.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which are written in dependent form or otherwise include all the limitations of an allowed generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

4. The claims are deemed to correspond to the species listed above in the following manner:

(1) Claims 1-21; (2) Claims 3, 7, 11, 14.

The following claim(s) are generic: (1) 1-21; (2) 3, 7, 11, 14.

5. The species listed above do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, the species lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons: (1) Claims 1-21 are directed to a compound having acetylcholine esterase inhibitory activity, of which each compound having acetylcholine esterase inhibitory activity is structurally distinct; (2) Claims 3, 7, 11, and 14 are directed to an anticholinergic agent, of which each anticholinergic agent is structurally distinct.

Art Unit: 1617

Applicant is advised that a reply to this requirement must include an identification of the species that is elected consonant with this requirement, and a listing of all claims readable thereon, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered nonresponsive unless accompanied by an election.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which depend from or otherwise require all the limitations of an allowable generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the inventions or species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the inventions or species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C.103(a) of the other invention.

A telephone call to the attorney is not required where: 1) the restriction requirement is complex, 2) the application is being prosecuted pro se, or 3) the examiner knows from past experience that a telephone election will not be made (MPEP § 812.01). Therefore, since this restriction requirement is considered complex, a call to the attorney for telephone election was not made.
